

Subject: What's your Mother's Day wish?

Dear [First Name / Friend],

As we head into Mother's Day this year, we're faced with a stark reality. Through no fault of their own, 1 in 6 women of childbearing age in the U.S. has enough mercury in her body to hamper her child's ability to walk, talk, read and write.

The culprit is corporate polluters who dump millions of tons of mercury, lead, arsenic and other dangerous chemicals into the air each year -- and who put our children at risk of asthma attacks, learning disabilities, and early death.

That's why families across the country are sending Mother's Day cards to their Senators, asking them to protect the air we breathe and help keep our children healthy. Please join us in speaking out today, either as a mother or in honor of moms everywhere.

Send a personal Mother's Day message and we'll hand-deliver it to your Senators.

Right now, scientists and public health experts at the EPA are trying to protect our kids by updating standards on everything from arsenic and mercury to soot, smog and carbon.

But they need support from the Senate to get this job done. That's why families in your state are calling on Senator NAME and Senator NAME to stand with the EPA.

When it comes to the harmful effects of air pollution, children are especially susceptible - and they can't stand up for themselves. It's up to us to come together and speak out.

Please make your Mother's Day wish for clean air and healthy kids right away:

This Mother's Day, let's all do our part to keep kids safe from harmful air pollution.

Thanks for speaking out,

SENDER

P.S. -- To make our voice even louder, forward this email to your friends and family and ask them to join you in making a Mother's Day Wish for clean air and healthy kids.
